

Criminal Justice Forensics & Security

Description

Interested in learning about the criminal justice system, forensics, serving the community, and making a difference? Check out the Criminal Justice Forensics and Security program at Tulsa Tech. This program prepares students for careers in forensics, security and prisoner detention. Students learn security fundamentals like executive protection, homeland security, prisoner detention, CLEET unarmed security and National Incident Management Systems (NIMS). Fitness concepts and defensive tactics are also core to the program. Students experience real-life scenarios that provide an overview of the criminal justice system, public service agencies and the correctional system. In addition, students learn about forensic and criminal investigations.
